Purchasing WebAssign & e-Textbook

The only materials you are required to purchase for the class is Cengage's WebAssign (WA). The complete textbook is included as an online e-textbook inside WebAssign. Buying or renting a physical textbook is optional.

Calculus Early Transcendentals (9th ed)

If you already have an active Cengage "Unlimited" subscription to this title/edition, then there is nothing to buy. For instance, if you bought the 4-month subscription for MATH& 151, that is all you need for MATH& 152 and 153, nothing to buy! Simply click on a link to a WA assignment in our Canvas class to link your Cengage account with the Stewart e-textbook and new WA materials.

If you do NOT already have an active Cengage "Unlimited" subscription use free temporary access to WA: Cengage provides full free "temporary access" to the WA materials and e-textbook for at least the first week of class. Ultimately you will need to purchase access, but it is wise to take advantage of the free access first. The Cengage: How to Register your Materials video shows you how to take advantage of this "grace period" and how to convert to a paid registration when you are ready.

Purchasing WA Access: Students taking Calculus at Clark College must have a Cengage "Unlimited" subscription. Note the "4-month" subscription automatically extends to Calculus I-II-III-IV, you do NOT need a 12 or 24-month subscription. You can purchase online directly through Cengage (4-month $130) or through the Clark College bookstore (4-month $137-$163)*. If you do purchase directly from Cengage, be sure to buy access to the "e-textbooks and Online Learning Platforms" (caution!) not just the e-textbook (because you need access to the WA platform). If you do purchase through the bookstore, there are two options both with identical content: "instant access" is more expensive; "access card" is less convenient. With either seller, Cengage includes free rental hard copy textbook ($10 shipping).
